

ABSTRACT

Methods of folding a protective cover article are described. The methods described result in a compact protective cover article that is relatively easy to unfold.